Long Island Br...
It was standing-room-only for the Briarcliff Production of the holiday musical, "Loving is a Gift," translated to "Angele Loro" with music and lyrics by the renowned Dukas. The story of Dukas' long-lost daughter was by the producers of "Angele Loro." Some of the students who participated in the show were seated in the front row, while others were seated in the back row. The show was presented in two acts, with each act featuring a different storyline. The students who participated in the show were excited to be a part of the production, and many of them were looking forward to performing in future productions as well. The show was directed by Mr. Cooper, Mrs. Harvey, and Mr. Hoak, who worked closely with the students to ensure that the production was a success.
